Using Machine Learning to Classify Objects in the Sky

(Dated: April 17, 2020)

Abstract

INTRODUCTION

Historically, there was a need to make determinations on nature of objects in the sky. However, for the longest time there was no option other than to identify and classify objects with manpower. In the 1990s, the